

Git is a distributed version control system that tracks versions of files.

Some times the files look like this